THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

Two Charming Debutantes Make Their

and a Luncheon-Personals

A pretty wedding took place at the Imnaculate Conception Church today at noon Miss Katherine May Clark and Mr. William H. De Lacy were married by Rev. S. F. Ryan, pastor of the church, in presence of very large gathering of their friends. Up to the arrival of the couple the ushers, Mr J. Nota McGill, Mr. M. J. Colbert, Mr. Charles J. Murphy, Mr. George T. Haslam, Mr. James F. Shea and Dr. J. Hepburn P. Benson, were kept busy seating the guests Miss Jennie Glennan, a cousin of the bride presided at the organ, playing Wagner and Mendelssohn's wedding marches, and dur ing the ceremony Mendelssohn's spring song. The high altar was profusely deco rated with white flowers and brilliantly il luminated by many lighted tapers.

The bride, who is the eldest daughter of Mr. Cornelius Clark, one of the best-known residents of the extreme northern section of the city, is an exceedingly pretty and at tractive young lady. She wore a stylish gown of brown broadcloth, with a becoming hat of the same color, and carried a cluster of roses. The groom, Mr. William H. De Lacy, is the assistant chief clerk of the Interior Department, not only widely and favorably known there, but by every one with whom he has come in personal con-tact. The popularity of the couple was strikingly evinced by the handsome collection of gifts sent them, which included many beautiful articles in silver, cut glass

With Rev. Father Ryan, who performe the ceremony, there were in the sanctuary a number of the prominent Catholic clergy of the city.

No reception followed the ceremony, as Mr. and Mrs. De Lacy left almost immedi ately for a northern wedding trip. The in February at 1810 5th street.

Few handsomer entertainments have been given this winter than the debut parties yesterday for Miss Ethel Blanchard and Miss Josephine Cobb.

Senator and Mrs. Blanchard extended post hospitable welcome to hundreds of their friends yesterday from 4 to 7. The entire second floor of the Riggs House was in use, and the freedom of so much space the groups of attractive young ladies who played hostesses at each particular point, the music and the flowers made up a most fascinating picture, of which the handsome hostess and her winsome young daughter stand out clearest of all. Mrs. Blanchard were an elegant brocaded gown, trimmed with lace. The debutante, who inherits her mother's charming manners, as well as her good looks, was in the sweet simplicity of white embroidered silk muslin, the full skirt being of satin, and the bodice of the softer material. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, one of the dozens and lozens of great bunches of roses and violets which were sent by friends and admirer Some of them formed a flower hedge be hind her, and the rest were piled on the tables and mantels. Mrs. Heywood, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. H. Clay Smith, Miss Helen Clarke, daughter of Representative Clarke of Alabama: Miss Harriette Neal, Miss Fordyce of St. Louis, Miss Baker, Miss Thomas, daughter of Representative Thomas of Oregon; Miss Bercaw of Penn-sylvania, Miss Stellweg, Miss Clarke of Mississippi, Miss Upshaw of New York, Miss Coltrelle of Chicago and Miss Plain were in the receiving party. One of the south parlors was used as a refreshment room. La France roses and smilax decked the table where all the usual tex dainties were spread. All the parlors were prettily decked with roses and green garlands.

Representative and Mrs. Cobb of Missouri gave a brilliant reception last night at the Normandie, at which their daughter, Miss Cobb, made her debut. Elaborate floral decorations, in which glowed numberless electric lights, made the parlor suite and the ball room a perfect fairyland. hostess and their daughter received, quantities of white roses and marguerites made the mantels and tables bouquets of beauty. Scuthern smilax draped the walls and chandeliers. White hyacinths and carnations were the feature of the decorations of the second parlor. An elaborate supper was served in the dining room. After 10 o'clock dancing began in the ball room and

Mrs. Cobb received in a superb gown of The debutante was in cream white satin, the bodice of softly plaited chiffon, and elbow sleeves of great puffs. She carried white roses, one of the many bouquets sent her. Miss Cobb is a charming young girl, highly accomplished and of a striking trunette type.

In the receiving party were Mrs. John C. Tarsney of Missouri, Mrs. Andrew Price of Louisiane, Mrs. Rufus E. Lester of Georgia. Mrs. S. E. Payne of New York. Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Joseph D. Sayers of Texas, Mrs. Charles E. Joy of St. Louis, Mrs. John B. Robinson of Pennsylvania, Mrs. John B. Robinson of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Richard A. Clark of Alabama, Mrs. J. Frank Aldrich of Chicago, Mrs. O'Brien Moore, Mrs. Morgan, wife of United States Treasurer Morgan; Mrs. Knapp, wife of Lieut. Knapp, U.S.N.; Mrs. Charles C. Bassett, Mrs. Mackin and Mrs. Randoiph, daughter of Representative Lester; the Misses Stevenson, Miss Cockrell, Miss Blanchard, Miss Hutcheson, Miss Dyer, Miss Henderson of Iowa, Miss Caffrey, Miss Robinson, Miss Clarke of Alabama, Miss Bogue of Chicago, Miss Evans of Kentreky, Miss Morgan, Miss Lindsay and Miss Richardson.

Several hundred guests enjoyed the occasien. Mrs. Dimond of Philadelphia. Miss Randolph of Virginia, Mr. William Knabe and Mr. John Lane Beck of Baltimore were among the out-of-town guests. Mrs. Crosby S. Noyes and Miss Noyes gave a luncheon today at which Mrs. M. M. Parker, Mrs. J. T. Granger, Mrs. B. H. Warner, Mrs. J. Stanley Brown, Mrs. Rudolph Kauffmann, Mrs. Frances E. Warren, Mrs. Charles J. Bell, Mrs. Charles C. Bassett, Mrs. Hall, Miss Ida Thompson and Miss Scidmore were entertained.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Lamont entertained the cabinet circle last night to meet the President and Mrs. Cleveland. The table, at which eighteen covers were laid, had in the center an antique silver vase filled with long-stemmed American beauty roses. Two broad and low silver dishes at the ends of the cloth were filled with lilies of the valley and Farlayense ferns. The tapers in the candelabra burned under red tapers in the candelabra burned under red shades and the effect on the exquisite cutglass dishes was extremely fine. Besides the President and Mrs. Cleveland there were present Secretary and Mrs. Olney, Secretary and Mrs. Carllsle, Attorney General and Mrs. Harmon, the Postmaster General and Mrs. Wilson, Secretary and Miss Hert, Secretary and Mrs. Smith, Secretary and Miss Morton and Miss Bryant of New York who is the guest of Mrs. Lamont York, who is the guest of Mrs. Lamont. Mrs. Romero held her last reception for the season yesterday afternoon, and the Mexican legation was again thronged by her friends from 3 until long past 6. Mrs. Romero was assisted by a number of ladies, among them being Mrs. Parker, Mrs. J. W. Foster, Mrs. Doe, Mrs. C. C. Bassett, Mrs. De Witt Arnold, Mrs. Charles H. Mills, Mrs. Frank Gordon, Mrs. Krogstadt, Mrs. Ross Thompson, Mrs. Branco, Mrs. Charles Voorhees, Mrs. Clifford Walton, Mrs. Har-Voorhees, Mrs. Clifford Walton, Mrs. Harmer Reeside, Miss Stevenson, Miss Voorhees, Miss Newcomb, Miss Gana, Miss Chandler, Miss Noyes, Miss Johnson, Miss Mills, Miss Mitchell, Miss Hutcheson, Miss Kelton, Miss Annie Barbour, Miss Mabel Walton, Miss Carmen Davis, Miss Uhl, Miss Carson, Miss Armstrong, Miss Almena Williams, Miss De Keim, Miss Helen Smith and the Misses Lord, with Mrs. Willard Warner and Miss Ida Thompson doing the honors of the refreshment table, and the honors of the refreshment table, and Miss McCeney presiding at the great bowl of Mexican punch. Mrs. Romero wore a French dress of Dresden silk in dark shades, striped with black velvet, and the bodice covered with jetted Spanish guipure lace over light green satin. Minister Ro-meto had the pleasure of welcoming many meto had the pleasure of welcoming many of his colleagues in the corps among the number of gentlemen paying their respects to his wife. The ball room, where an orchestra played, was a most fascinating spot to many of the younger guests after the dancing commenced, which was kept up with spirit the entire afternoon. The table in the dining room was superbly decked with flowers and bountifully supplied with dainties and substantials. Mrs. A. A. Wilson gave another tea yesterday, at which a large company were again entertained. Mrs. Carilsie, Miss Helm and Miss Bryant were in the receiving party. Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Noyes Salled today for Europe, to be absent several months.
